2.2 Interpretation

Terms not defined in this policy which are given a meaning in the Corporations Act have the same meaning as in the Corporations Act.

3. Responsibilities

- 3.1 Everyone associated with the Group is expected to adhere to acceptable and ethical standards, including the compliance with all laws, and this in turn helps the Group to achieve its commitment to a culture of ethical and honest behaviour.
- 3.2 Achieving this commitment requires all Personnel who become aware of any actual or suspected Reportable Conduct, to report what they know or suspect according to the procedures set out below.

4. Reporting procedures

- 4.1 Anyone who has reasonable grounds to suspect Reportable Conduct should report the conduct via one of the following channels:
- (a) to their immediate supervisor or manager (for example, a lead practitioner). The supervisor or manager will then escalate the matter to the designated Protected Disclosure Officer; or
 - (b) directly to the Protected Disclosure Officer, being:

Emma Corcoran, Company Secretary
disclosureofficer@smilesinc.com.au
+61 7 5668 2812

Additional Protected Disclosure Officers may be appointed from time to time.

- 4.2 Protected Disclosure Officers are responsible for overseeing the development and implementation of this policy and Group's whistleblower initiatives and encouraging reporting of policy breaches.
- 4.3 Personnel may remain anonymous when making a report, however anonymity can reduce the extent to which some matters can be investigated, and may prevent the person lodging the report from being kept updated as to the progress or outcome of the investigation.
- 4.4 While the Group will take all reasonable efforts to ensure anonymity is maintained, employees lodging anonymous reports should be aware that if the matter is eventually heard in court, anonymity may be lifted in limited circumstances by a court order.
- 4.5 Personnel lodging anonymous reports should also be aware that the whistleblower protections afforded by the Corporations Act, do not extend to complainants who choose to remain anonymous (i.e. your name must be provided before or at the time of making the report).

5. Investigation

- 5.1 The Group will investigate all cases of Reportable Conduct lodged in accordance with this policy. The report will be investigated fairly, thoroughly and objectively, and will be done so in a reasonably timely manner.
- 5.2 Where appropriate, and where allowed by legal or confidentiality restraints, the Group may notify the outcome of the investigation to the person who reported the matter (where possible).

6. Whistleblower protection

- 6.1 The Group is absolutely committed to ensuring all persons who make a report in accordance with this policy are afforded absolute confidentiality and fairness and are not subject to any detrimental, recriminatory, harassing or unfavourable treatment for lodging a report in good faith.
- 6.2 Unless required by law, a court, or as consented to by the person making the report, the identity of the person making the report, and all of the information they disclose, shall be treated with absolute confidentiality by the supervisor or manager receiving the report and/or the Protected Disclosure Officer. This continued confidentiality includes when the receiver is reporting the matter to senior management, the Board, or legal advisors. Where, for the purposes of investigation, the identity of the person is required to be disclosed, it will not be done without the whistleblower's consent and the whistleblower may request a leave of absence or to be relocated during the investigation in those circumstances. Any notes, records or files created as part of the reporting shall be retained under similarly strict confidentiality.
- 6.3 Should any breach of the confidentiality requirements set out above occur by any Personnel, these will be regarded as a serious breach of their terms of engagement or employment, and may result in disciplinary action including termination.
- 6.4 In cases of vexatious, baseless or trivial reports where there are no reasonable grounds for suspicion, the protections afforded to the whistleblower may not be available.

7. Whistleblower protection under the Corporations Act

7.1 The Corporations Act affords protection to whistleblowers where the following conditions are met:

- (a) they are an officer or employee of the Company, or a contractor or employee of a contractor to the Company; and

- (d) the report is made in good faith, and on reasonable grounds indicating that the Company or a Company officer may have breached the Corporations Act or the Australian Securities and Investments Commission Act 2001 (Cth).

7.2 Where these conditions are met:

- (a) the whistleblower is protected from any legal liability by making the report;
- (b) should they suffer any detrimental, recriminatory, harassing or unfavourable treatment for lodging a report, the whistleblower can claim compensation for that damage from the offender, who may also be liable for a criminal offence; and
- (c) if the person receiving the report discloses anything which may give away the whistleblower's identity (other than as required by law, the police, or ASIC), they too may be guilty of an offence.
